snapchat isn t attempting to deceive anyone you must utilize the app in order to improve your score so if you want to improve your snapchat score you should utilize it as much as possible you ll be shattering records in no time if you put in the effort as previously stated sending and receiving snaps contributes to your snapchat point accumulation snaps sharing is the only way to get up in the rankings if you send or receive direct messages you will not earn any points avoid sending or opening chat messages that have been received avoid websites that claim to be able to hijack your snapchat account and artificially inflate your points snapchat s algorithm is impenetrable to outsiders simple the only thing you ll get out of hacking is a ton of pointless surveys to complete and a ton of spam in your mailbox

if you ve been using snapchat quite often lately but your snapscore is still the same you might not be performing activities that get you points for example simply chatting with someone will not increase your snapscore instead you need to send each other snaps snapchat has a feature called snapchat score that keeps track of the number of snaps that you send and receive you can increase your snapchat score by sending and receiving more snaps one way to do this is to make daily streaks a daily streak is when you send and receive snaps with the same person for consecutive days snapchat gives you both a star and a number next to the person s name to indicate how many days you have been on a streak the longer the streak the more points you get making daily streaks is a great way to increase your snapchat score quickly plus it s also a lot of fun to quickly improve your snapchat score you can always do it the old fashioned way just use snapchat more often being more active on snapchat can help you build a following and ultimately get you influencer status although a higher score won't unlock any more features if you hit a snap streak with one friend you will receive the best friend emojis in the past you could get snapchat awards but those are no longer available
